A VERY SMALL OFFICE

LOST & FOUND

for impossible things

PUBLIC NOTICE

Nothing ordinary is missing here.

At the end of a street that is not on any map, a small office keeps the things people almost had.

The shelves are carefully labelled. The labels are occasionally wrong.

CASE NO. 014

A shadow on holiday

Found beneath a park bench.
It says the person it belongs to walks much too quickly.

STATUS: NOT READY TO GO HOME

CASE NO. 027

Five minutes of a dream

Still warm. Smells faintly of rain on a place you have never been. Stored in an unsealed envelope.

CASE NO. 041

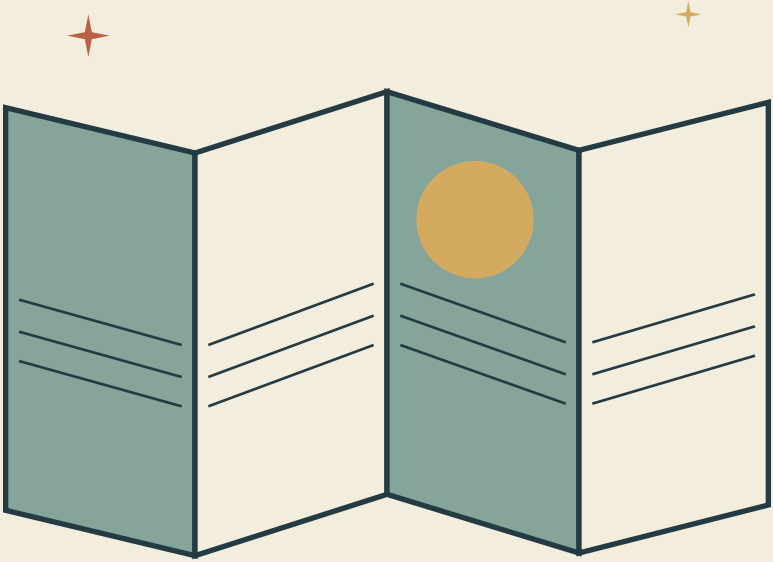

The turn you almost took

It has become a small village. The bakery opens whenever you think of it.

CASE NO. 088

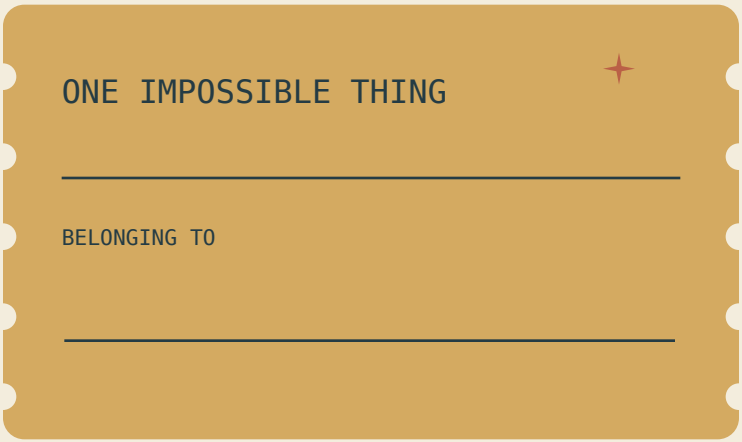

A spare horizon

Folds neatly into a coat pocket. Unfold it somewhere that has begun to feel too familiar.

COLLECTIONS DESK

Claim ticket

No proof of ownership required.
If it makes you pause at the door,
it is probably yours.

PLEASE TAKE YOUR TIME.

Some things are easier to find when they are allowed to be lost.

A tiny fiction in eight pages.

Words and drawings by Jane.
